

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An anode, an anode current collector, an anode active material and a battery using the anode are provided. The anode includes the anode current collector and the anode active material. The anode current collector has a projection. The anode active material layer is formed via at least one of a vapor deposition method, a liquid-phase 5 deposition method, a sintering method and the like.